Discovering Missions Opportunities Close To Home

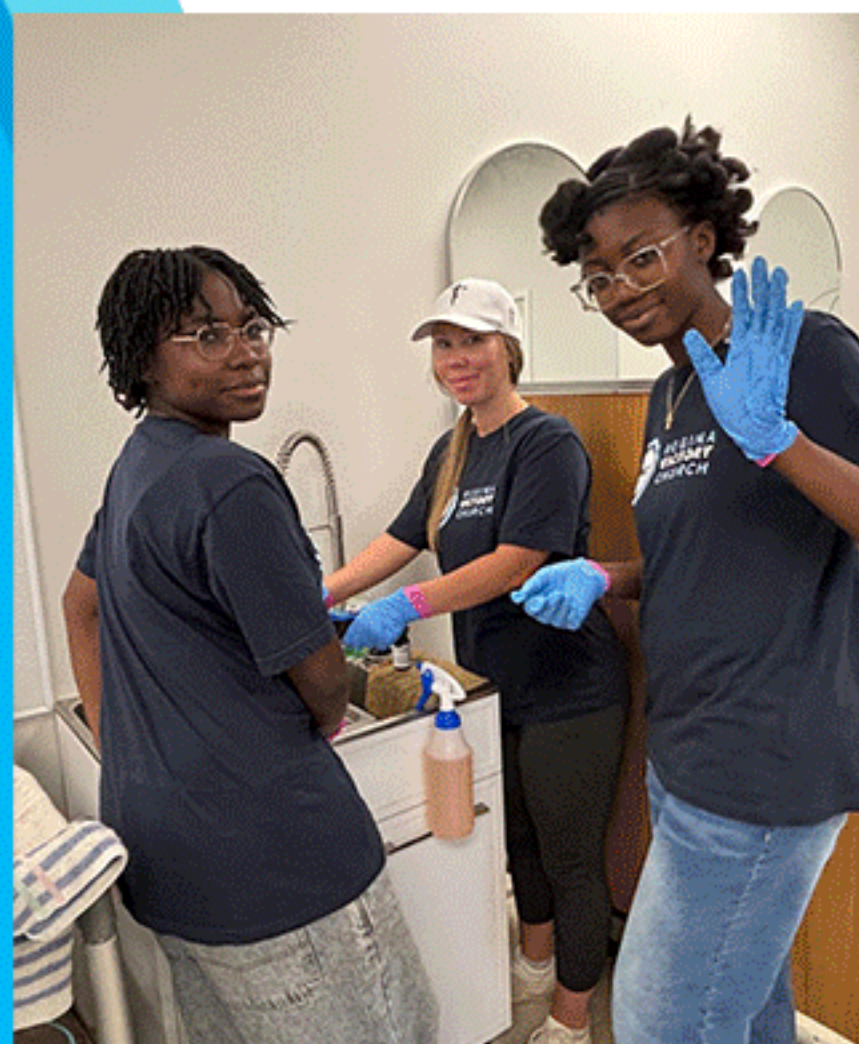

A team of ten members from Regina Victory Church recently returned from a week-long missions' trip to Streets Alive Mission in Lethbridge, AB, where they experienced firsthand the joy of serving people right here in Canada. Led by Dr. Nosa Gbinigie, one of the missions' coordinators, the team partnered with the Streets Alive in a variety of outreach opportunities, reaching those facing homelessness, poverty, and addiction.

Throughout the week, team members joined daily outreach crews to connect with people living on the streets. They also spent time with people in Streets Alive's addiction recovery program, supporting them on their journey toward restoration. Others volunteered at the repurposed donations centre and the "People in Need" clothing bank, helping sort donated items and provide clothing to those in need.

The team also assisted with several hands-on projects, including painting and preparing the new ministry building for future use. In addition, three team members had the privilege of sharing testimonies of God's faithfulness at local churches. Others participated in the ministry's weekly "Food Friday" outreach, serving meals and caring for people from the surrounding community.

Dr. Nosa described the trip as a deeply impactful experience and encouraged others to consider serving on a short-term missions team within Canada. Pastor Julie Kissick from Streets Alive Mission echoed that invitation, noting many ways volunteers can make a difference—from outreach and clothing distribution to building projects and community ministry. She encouraged believers to step out in faith, experience God's heart for "the poorest of the poor," and discover how even a few days of service can have an eternal impact.
